THE MISTAKE SAFARI

Go on the hunt like Nina, Serafina, and Selina!

On a safari, you watch wild animals. On a mistake safari, you hunt something much rarer: an AI mistake. Here's how:

TASK 1

Pick your specialty. Something YOU know really well: your pet, your favorite team, your hobby, your favorite game. There, you're the pro — not the AI.

My specialty:

Why am I the pro at this?

TASK 2

Ask the AI five questions about it.

Before you set off: Do this together with a grown-up — and don't tell the AI your name, where you live, or which school you go to. The guessing machine doesn't need any of that.

TASK 3

Keep a tally sheet like Selina. One mark for every mistake you find. Half mistakes and almost-mistakes count too.

MISTAKES	HALF MISTAKES	ALMOST-MISTAKES

Every mark means: we looked it up.

TASK 4

Show your find to somebody. The best mistake is one you can laugh about together. Ask your parents about THEIR best AI mistake, too. (And if the AI got everything right: also fine. Now you know it's right — before, you were just taking its word for it.)

THE THREE DETECTIVE RULES, READY TO CUT OUT:

1. Check first, then believe.

2. Secrets are for people you trust. Not for companies.
(And a secret that gives you a stomachache isn't a secret — that one you tell a grown-up.)

3. You're the boss.

Nina trips over bags, Serafina over stones, Selina over her shoelace. What do you trip over? Draw it here:
